Pastoral Search Job Advertisement
First Mennonite Church Denver

First Mennonite Church of Denver (CO) is searching for a new full-time pastor to lead our congregation beginning as early as September 2017.

We seek a pastor with a strong passion for preaching that is Christ-centered and scripturally focused, with emphasis upon today's issues of social justice and peace. The ideal candidate will provide visionary leadership, is an experienced pastor with an M.Div. degree, and has a strong foundation in Anabaptist and Mennonite theology.

We seek a pastor who can exhibit and develop love and care for the Mennonite faith and way of congregational life, including an emphasis on community, simplicity, peace, and service. The pastor will also help create an atmosphere/setting that is welcoming, inclusive, and open to the evolving diversity of the Mennonite church within an urban setting.

For more information please contact Mountain States Mennonite Conference Minister Linford King (linford@mountainstatesmc.org). Letters of interest, résumés, and a list of references can be emailed to Eric Boschmann (eric.boschmann@gmail.com) and Glenda Kauffman (jgbnkauffman@msn.com) Pastor Search Committee co-chairs. Review of applications will continue until the position is filled.
